PUTTING GOD'S KINGDOM FIRST

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 6:19-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.—Matthew 6:33.

Said the Robin to the Sparrow
"I should like to know
Why these anxious human beings
Rush about and worry so."

Said the Sparrow to the Robin:
"Friend, I think that it must be
That they have no Heavenly Father
Such as cares for you and me."

—Elizabeth Cheney

Most men are rushing about madly. Worry presses them down. They wonder whether life is worthwhile, whether somewhere there is not relief from this nervous tension that is destroying mind and body. Well, there is relief and it consists of but one ingredient. Give God His proper place, the first place in your life, and "all these things" (Matt. 6:33) will take their rightful places. Seeking first the kingdom of God will settle every problem about money, about food and clothing, and about the future.

I. Money (vv. 19-24).

The word in our text is "treasures," and we know that it has a broader meaning than money, but since in our day men seem to translate all values into dollars, we feel free to use that word "money" to express our thoughts.

The treasure is something that one has placed somewhere in order to keep it for himself. It is not a thing gathered for the purpose of using it to serve others or to serve God, but something put away on the shelf to be kept for one's own enjoyment.

There are two places in which a man can lay up treasure, on earth or in heaven; but it is only as he hoards treasure on earth that he becomes selfish. That which he sends on to heaven by his devotion of life and in service to Christ, by his sacrificial giving to the cause of Christ, by his encouragement of those who are witnessing for Christ, all this is done for the glory of God and without hope of reward. How great will be the surprise of some when they come to heaven and find what they have thus laid up for eternity.

Laying up treasures on this earth, on the other hand, leads to covetousness, to enslavement to one's possessions (be they great or small), and to the evils that follow like a train in the wake of a love of money.

II. Food and Clothing (vv. 25-32).

Some who have no great desire to amass riches are nevertheless in constant anxiety about food and raiment for the morrow; in fact, it is true of some who have great riches that they live in fear less next month or next year or ten years from now they may be in need.

What is the answer of the Lord Jesus? Consider the birds. They are not able to work nor are they able to pray, but God feeds them. Consider the glory of the flowers of the fields, for not even a king can dress himself in such beauty. "Are ye not much better than they?" (v. 26).

"As far as known, no bird ever tried to build more nests than its neighbors; no fox ever fretted because it had only one hole in which to hide; no squirrel ever died of anxiety lest he should not lay up enough nuts for two winters instead of one; and no dog ever lost any sleep over the fact that he did not have enough bones laid aside for his declining years" (Public Health Service).

Proper forethought is good and right for we are intelligent beings, but anxiety about our daily needs is always dishonoring to God.

III. The Future (vv. 33, 34).

Why will we fret ourselves about the future? It is in God's hands, and even if it were in our hands, what could we do about it? Even tomorrow, with its needs and its blessings, with its joy and its sorrows, is not yet here, and when it does come, there will be God's gracious provision for each passing hour.

Unsaved friend, will you not take the Lord Jesus Christ just now as your personal Saviour and let Him solve the problems of your life as you put the kingdom of God first? Christian friend, if you too have been bearing burdens which are not honoring to God, will you not tell Him just now, and put them down at the feet of the Lord Jesus? "Casting all your cares upon him; for he careth for you" (I Pet. 5:7), which might properly be translated, "Casting all your worries (or distractions) on Him, for He worrieth about you."

Be Still Then and Know

Only in the sacredness of inward silence does the soul truly meet the secret, hiding God. The strength of resolve, which afterwards shapes life and mixes itself with action, is the fruit of those sacred, solitary moments when we meet God alone. —J. W. Robertson.

WIDEN YOUR ROADS WITH CONCRETE

RELIEVE CONGESTION
SPEED TRAFFIC
INCREASE SAFETY

NO community today can afford narrow, congested roads and streets.
Today's swollen traffic clamors for "elbow room." The practical answer is to widen crowded roadways with concrete. Restores normal speeds. Eliminates congestion. Provides ample room for passing. Saves countless hours. Increases safety. And wider roads boost business.
Whether you build new roads or widen old, be sure to demand concrete—the safest and most economical pavement for modern traffic.

AUTUMN BEAUTIFUL

Autumn Beautiful is drawing nigh,
The summer is o'er and gone;
Reddining leaves against the sky,
Pumpkins yellow 'mid shocks of corn.

Flowers that blossomed are faded now,
Their task in the spring was done;
In joyous acceptance of fall we bow
As we stand in the slanting sun.

Winter will soon be creeping around
With snow so downy and white;
Bare trees will stand without a sound
In the chill of the long, winter night.

How much we'll miss the summer sun,
The breeze blowing balmy and light!
Our summer's play we know is done-
But for winter we wait with delight.

—Frances Harvey.

"Snowflakes And Knowledge"

Snowflakes, raindrops and tinkling hail,
Drifting along like ships that sail.

Covering the earth with crystals bright,
Glistening and shining,
In the pale moonlight.

Chasing each other from the gray sky,
They're nature's childrden,
Just as you and I.

—Kathleen Harris.

LAUGHTER

When laughter tinkles 'round about
No booming noise can shut it out.
It fills the hills and dales with love,
Our hearts send thanks to Him, above.

That we can have and we can give
A laugh, that helps some one to live.
Just as He ever dreamed he should
In living life in brotherhood.

A laugh is gay spontaneous mirth,
From heart, to eye, then mouth, then birth,
Now that laugh is on its way,
In someone's heart 'twill find a home.

—Ilah Buchanan.

TITLE: Story of David Livingstone, by Vautier Golding

Publisher: Thomas Nelson & Sons.
Reviewed by: GLADYS JONES.

David Livingstone grew to be a great pioneer, explorer, scientist, doctor, missionary, and most important, a freer of slaves.

Livingstone was born in 1813. His parents were so poor that David had to be taken out of school at the age of ten, and began work in a cotton mill, although the wages were very low. As the years went by, David though he wanted to be a missionary. At the age of twenty he went to college. He offered himself to the London Missionary Society, and was accepted. In 1840 he was ordained as a missionary. On December 8, 1840, he set sail for the unknown, continent of Africa.

Livingstone landed a t Cape Down. He spread the missions farther apart and immediately began to do better work. Livingstone had many misfortunes. Livingstone married a girl named Mary Moffet who was a successful worker with him.

On May 27, 1849, Wilson Oswell, an Englishman, went with Livingstone on an expedition in Africa. They made many explorations in things the African natives never dreamed of. They constructed bridges and canals and also named the Victoria Falls, despite the many hardships and misfortunes which the two explorers had to endure.

In 1858 they set sail for the Cape. His wife was seized with fever and died in 1862. This was a sorrow to him in his last days. When Livingstone was at death's door, a young journalist, H. M. Stanley came to his relief. These two made short journeys. Livingstone made Stanley an explorer.

Livingstone's last and greatest want was to follow up the slave hunters and make known in English all the brutal and wicked horror of the slave trade. This was the work which caused his death. His greatest aim in all his exploring was to bring an end to the slave trade. Livingstone's body was carried to its grave in Westminster Abbey on 18th April, 1874. His heart was buried under a mvula tree in Africa.
